Move:
July 28th 2007—a 2 week tight relocation schedule

July 2007 was a busy time for us and especially the builders. The fixed deadline closed in and the pressure was growing to ensure the completion of the project. During the last few weeks, there were over 80 construction workers recorded on site. We had just a two week slot to move our vast array of machinery and pretty much the entire business. On the 13th of August 2007, we accomplished our goal, and recommenced business in our shiny new building.

One year on, we have installed over a million euro's worth of new machinery and have future plans for further substantial investment. This is all in keeping with our philosophy of driving our business forward to exceed our customers' expectations. Through innovation and investment in technology and people, we continue to improve our performance and reduce costs to you our customers.
